

Do you speak a language other than English?

Westlock Intermunicipal Library Literacy Program is looking for Volunteer Tutors!

Volunteer tutors help newcomers establish meaningful social connections and grow their social and professional networks, develop the skills, knowledge, and confidence to overcome the difficulties that come with language barriers, when coming to new communities.

Tutoring can be a great way to volunteer your time, give back to your community and make a real difference in someone's education. You'll play a large role in shaping a student's sense of self-worth and self-confidence — which can be rewarding for both you and the student!

If you would like to use your skills and knowledge to help a newcomer in the community, give us a call or complete our online application today!

English Volunteer Tutors provide informal ELL/ESL training to adult learners. Tutoring sessions provide new English learners with ample opportunities for developing and practicing English Language skills in an informal context, growing intercultural awareness, and building connections.
